I'm Robin. I love to go on walks in the park and I love my owner and my owner is very nice and I am very good to my owner. I exercise a lot. I am his best friend. You know what people say, dogs are man's best friend. I protect my owner from bad people like robbers. I am always happy when he comes back from work. One day I was in the park and I climbed a small tower and I jumped off. I thought I was superdog instead of superman and then I fell but I did not get hurt. But it was fun flying in air. But then we had to leave after that. I like to play with cats not eat them.

He gives me treats for doing tricks and for being good. He takes me to the vet when I am sick. When he doesn't feel good, I'll go and ask him what's wrong but I do not know if he will understand me but I will show my love and lick him to make him feel better then he pets me. It feels so good when he pets me. Please never give me away. Because if I was a human I would never give you away and always be with you. I will always be your best friend. Please don't give me away only because I'm getting old or because I'm getting sick or because you want a new pet. WOOF WOOF!
