

One day the endangered animals from the whole world decided to make a meeting to discuss a very important issue: The future of their lives and their kids safety.

They met in the building of the Animals United Nation. The president Mr. Eagle started the meeting by say, "We are here today to stop the danger that threatens our life and our kids future. We should find a way to stop humans from hunting us, because day after day we might get extinct." Everybody agreed.

Then the tiger said, "Humans have to know that we are part of this world, exactly like them, and they have to learn how to share it with us, so we can live in peace." Humans are the greatest threat to all tigers, they don't only take their lives by hunting, they also take our habitat for their own purposes.

Then the whale said, "Yeah! We have to eliminate hunting whales and other threats to whale's survival."

Next the polar bear added, "The change of weather caused by humans is the most threat to the polar bear because of the melting of our ice habitat, and I heard that our generations will be extinct within 100 years!!!"

The owl agreed by saying, "You are right." Owls, like most animals are increasingly threatened by loss of habitat because of humans act and weather changes.

Finally the ostrich said, "This is really a serious problem." We have been also hunted for our feathers and skins to extinction, so we have to do something to save our lives.

The president, Mr. Eagle replied, "We are going to send a message to the president of the Human United Nation asking him to teach humans how to share this world with us, and stop hunting animals and taking from them their habitats.” This will be the last warning or else, they will regret their act! Humans have to love us, otherwise they will lose use!!

Next, Mr. Eagle added, “We will meet next year in the same time, and the same place to see what will happen, if we’re still alive!!”

The meeting is over.

You are dismissed.
