

The animals of the world have brought about contributions and satisfaction. These beautiful creatures captivate our lives by benefiting us in countless ways. Not just people are transforming lives in a positive way, but animals are also.

Police dogs are defending our innocent, and sacrificing their lives. Blind Lead Dogs accommodating the blind. Bees to make honey, cows to provide dairy, chickens to lay eggs, and many more animals to produce food. Also, sometimes animals are just there to comfort us, be a companion, and to be love.

This world wouldn't be the same if animals never existed. It would be completely colorless. Empty. We wouldn't sustain. This is something we as humans do not realize as we walk in our daily lives.

All the animals that are now extinct could have changed Earth's history, maybe cured a disease, or possibly changed our future. Precious lives of animals are here and we need not take advantage of them, or ridicule them. All animals have a purpose on this planet, just like you and me. Animals benefit our lives tremendously, and it is no secret.
